SEVEN DAYS SAYS:

The intermedia performance group presents Luna Eclose, a large-scale, interactive installation in which audience members share space with dancers.

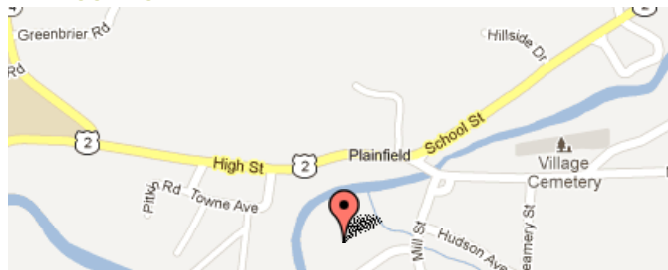

Moving in a New Direction

Sean Clute and Pauline Jennings have big ideas — and the ability to execute them. The pair cofounded the multimedia performance Double Vision in 2003 and have since produced a series of shows that use video, sound and dance to redefine the physical space in which they occur. An MFA in electronic music and recording media and an esteemed professional career inform Clute's work. His experimental yet structured soundtracks complement Jennings' internationally recognized choreography, in which she explores and questions our rapidly changing society. In the interactive Luna Eclose, audiences cast shadows with their bodies and place instructive signs on dancers, dictating their movement.
